IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE HEADLINES, REWRITE THEM.

CHANGE.

We're experiencing it like never before. We fight for it. We fight against it. It frightens some and excites others. We're with the others.

Many people don't even know they want it. "If I had asked my customers what they wanted, they would have said faster horses." Whether or not carmaker Henry Ford actually uttered these words, they still ring true.

Real change lives outside of convention, and great things rarely happen in comfort zones.

But we've always done it this way is a road to nowhere. You have to keep moving. One day or day one. That's the choice.

On Tuesday 15 September 2020, we celebrated our 21st anniversary. Day 7672. But also day one. We're still going strong as a proudly independent creative agency because we treat every day as a fresh slate; a chance to reinvent and rewrite.

A brand new opportunity to make a difference and do things differently.

Even after all these years, we're like kids in a toyshop when a new brief lands on our desks. The thrill of knowing you're one great idea or decision away from changing everything... that's what gets us up in the morning. Not the promise of more of the same.

We all love a before and after – none more so than the ad industry.

The fitness transformations.

The style makeovers.

The home renovations.

That's positive change, right there.

And that's why we do what we do.

Not just for education providers, government, charities and healthcare.

But for airlines, property developers, retailers and the resources sector.

Even entire countries.

Our clients love the before and after. But they stick with us because they're excited about the day after that – where we can go next. Positive change is always a journey, and our clients and staff alike are with us for the long haul.

The world has changed a lot since we first opened our doors. Scrub that. It's changed a lot in the last 24 hours. A threat? Maybe. An opportunity? Definitely.

If you're still reading, you're with us. Those who disagree will have already turned the page.

So you'll understand why our love of advertising is as strong as ever. This is day one. A day to dream of what could be and discuss new ways to create positive change.

LET'S TALK.

How can water power Queensland's future?

Hydro is how. We created a stunning film and multi-platform campaign that helps people understand why pumped hydro energy storage is key to Queensland's clean energy future.

How can we promise
our children a clean energy future?

Hydro IS HOW.

Pumped hydro energy storage is an essential part of our future clean energy mix if we're going to create a brighter future for generations to come. Visit our website to learn more and join the conversation about the proposed Borumba Pumped Hydro Project.

QUEENSLAND ENERGY AND JOBS PLAN

Power for generations

We generated excitement about clean, reliable, affordable energy.

To launch the Government's game-changing Queensland Energy and Jobs Plan, we travelled across the state to demonstrate how the move to renewable energy sources will energise industry, create jobs and change the way we produce, store and use energy for generations to come.

NEW INDUSTRIES, GOOD JOBS

QUEENSLAND ENERGY AND JOBS PLAN

Power for generations

Powering towards 70%
renewable energy by 2032.
That's our plan.

Queensland is the most natural place on earth to invest in renewable energy. From solar farms to wind power to the clean waters of our hydroelectric dams, the sunshine state has everything we need to meet our renewable energy target of 70% by 2032. The good news is, we've got a plan.

QUEENSLAND ENERGY AND JOBS PLAN Power for generations

Energising new industries and generating new jobs.

Constructing, supplying and maintaining the SuperGrid needed to power Queensland will create thousands of new jobs and business opportunities for our regions. There has already been around $11 billion invested in renewable energy and there's lots more to come. The good news is, we've got a plan.

We made a splash about safety.

Playing it safe doesn't mean spoiling the fun.

Our summer safety campaign engaged with all kinds of people having fun around the water, including the world's best wakeboarder, to remind the millions of lake visitors to stay safe, follow the rules and keep the fun alive.

[LET'S PROTECT RESPECT]

We helped drive cultural change for Queensland apprentices, trainees and their employees.

Let's protect respect. Three words, one powerful call to action that inspires positive change for a very important cause—stamping out workplace bullying and harassment.

APPRENTICESHIPS WORK for EVERYONE

We got the job done for apprenticeships.

Apprenticeships are vital for the future of Queensland's workforce. They're a great way to learn a trade and the gateway to a long-lasting and successful career. And it's not just employees who benefit, there are grants and incentives to help employers too. Everyone wins when they take on an apprentice.

We mined the truth about new economy minerals.

Queensland's mining sector has a bright future thanks to the abundance of new economy minerals available in our state. Our campaign emotively highlighted a few of the many new minerals we'll be needing and what we'll be needing them for, seen through the upbeat, positive eyes of the next generation.

We help Queenslanders stay safe.

Using iconic Queenslander, Johnathan Thurston, our message of reducing the impact of disaster on home, family and community had strong cut-through.

We help Queenslanders get interconnected.

A small fire can escalate to a major situation very quickly.

We educated Queensland to install interconnected smoke alarms to keep people safe in every room of the house.

We are stopping a super pest from invading our country.

By using powerful visuals combined with the emotive words connecting to relevant recent events, the message provokes thought and resulted in immediate action.

We encourage Queenslanders to be bushfire ready.

Our new digitally-led campaign urges those living in at-risk areas to make a bushfire plan – because a perfect day can turn to horror in a moment.

We protect road users from the unexpected.

We help Queenslanders get the right cover.

By using iconic Queensland warning signs, we compelled people to get the right insurance cover and not just 'hope for the best'.

We give people a voice.

By positioning the elections as 'The Day to Have Your Say' for those who've historically felt less empowered, we increased participation rates and reduced the number of informal votes cast.

We help build roads to a better Queensland.

To generate awareness for the Bruce Highway Upgrades, we developed a campaign that produced sympathetic and appreciative responses from the affected communities.

We tell stories that change perspectives.

To remind Queenslanders that the dairy industry is something to be proud of, we told a story that connected people to the communities bringing dairy to Queensland.

Let's raise a glass to the farmers who put the best of Queensland in their dairy.

Queensland's dairy farmers
The cream of Australia.

Find it in our fridge.

By positioning the Department of Transport and Main Roads as an employer of choice, we attracted new employees and engaged current staff to take pride in their work.

We give places identity.

By giving the brief to three different creative teams, we encouraged a broad scope of thinking that led to a fully integrated brand campaign that truly set the Queen's Wharf apart.

We connect industry and community.
To help dispel negative perceptions, we developed a brand framework that not only helped the community resonate with the project, but also gained their support.

Spread the facts...
NOT THE FLU

There are plenty of myths and pieces of misinformation about the influenza virus – this year, let's get the flu facts straight. Here are our top tips for keeping the flu contained this season.

One: Be proactive – get vaccinated.

Two: If you're running a fever – stay home.

Three: Take hand washing seriously – it takes at least 20 seconds to do it right.

Four: Cough or sneeze into a tissue, or use your elbow or sleeves if you don't have a tissue handy.

Five: Dispose of used tissues immediately and wash your hands.

The flu is avoidable, so don't leave it to luck – act on the facts and stay well.

Spread the facts... NOT THE FLU

We keep Queenslanders healthy.

By informing people about the facts, we started conversations about health that got Queensland talking and drove people to action.

Up to 50,000
Australians don't know they've got Hepatitis C.
Do you?

Don't delay, get a blood test today.

If you've ever shared a needle or razor, we need to talk about hepatitis C. There are often no symptoms or warning signs. But left undetected, it can lead to cirrhosis, liver disease, cancer and even death. Thanks to the latest antiviral treatments available through your GP, you now have a 95% chance of being cured.

To get tested, talk to your GP or visit health.qld.gov.au/hepc
